

A Note to Teachers and Parents

This page was created to compliment the reading levels we use in our classroom. Skills that a child should be learning at each level can be reinforced by playing the games or reading stories linked to each page. In our classroom, we use this page during the time we are doing guided reading with small groups of children. We hope that parents will find these games useful at home to help their child to practice their skills as well. We also hope you will take the time to read to your child from the stories presented on these sites.
